APPENDIX VII – 8
Site Family Engagement Process

Davidson utilized the results from the family engagement surveys and focus groups to conduct a comprehensive needs assessment using Dr. Epstein’s six principles of family engagement. These findings formed the basis for the Integrated Action Plan the school created to address their weaknesses. Extracts from these documents serve as examples of the process.
Davidson Elementary Focus Groups SY2017-18

1. Davidson’s site team chose four questions to explore during focus groups.
   a. In what types of school events or situations do you prefer to participate and why?
   b. What can the school do to make families feel more welcome on campus?
   c. What can the school do differently to remove barriers to family engagement?
   d. If you were in charge of Parent/Teacher Conferences, what changes would you make?

2. Site administrator scheduled focus group meetings for parents or guardians and invited participants.
   a. One group in the afternoon, immediately following school, conducted in English with bilingual (English and Spanish) facilitators.
   b. Two groups in the evening, one in English and one in Spanish.

3. Family & Community Outreach Department provided out-of-District facilitators for the groups to encourage open and honest dialogue.

4. Summary of Results
   a. Participants specified a preference for activities that allow them to interact with their children, teachers, and other families. Some activities mentioned include field trips, carnival, field day, and movie night. Participants not only like to attend, but they enjoy volunteering at these events. Additionally, participants indicated that they prefer events that focus on student work such as STEM or Art Nights.
   b. Participants specified a need for signage to help them find their way around, and with specific language welcoming them to campus. They also indicated a desire for visually appealing, updated bulletin boards with information about upcoming events. Participants specifically discussed mornings, before school. They enjoy morning assemblies and monthly coffees, and would like to see teachers inviting or encouraging adults to walk to class with their children, and be welcomed into the classrooms in the mornings. Additionally, participants would like to see more activities and outside supervision before school for students who are not participating in school breakfast.

c. Participants specified a need for more time options and language supports to remove barriers to participation. Specifically, participants suggested the school offer activities in the mornings and more options for days and times of events, as well as earlier and more advertisement for events. Participants expressed concern for families who speak languages other than English. They would like to see staff who speak additional languages, flier and other written materials in multiple languages, and interpreters at events.

Participants discussed the need to provide opportunities for families to get to know each other. They suggested that parents/guardians would feel more comfortable or motivated to participate in school activities if they had relationships with other parents and guardians.

d. Participants were generally satisfied with their own parent-teacher conferences, but offered suggestions for overall improvement. They would like to see more days and times allotted for conferences, with more campus supervision during conference times for overall safety of students and families. Additionally, they would like to see a positive focus and ways to help parents communicate with their children.
